

MORNING GLORY

Blossom IDD's Morning Glory groups is for parents, guardians, and caregivers of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities led by Blossom's Parent Advisory Leadership (PAL) committee. So often, parents also feel isolated once their loved one leaves the secondary education environment. There are many systems, processes, and resources to be shared amongst one another, and this group aims to facilitate that through social events, guest speakers, and discussions of areas of concern. While most of the parents have loved ones 18 or older, we encourage parents of individuals still in secondary school to attend to get as much information as possible prior to leaving secondary school.
